(October 2011) Ninja Jump is a platform game for iOS devices. The goal of the game is to reach the highest point possible. Game The gameplay of Ninja Jump is similar to the second stage of Ninja Gaiden on the Game Gear consisting of running and jumping between two vertical platforms avoiding obstacles like window sills and various enemies. If the player kills three of the same enemies consecutively, a special attack is activated for a short period of time. The game allows players to choose from multiple ninjas to play as and backgrounds for the game. In addition, Ninja Jump includes highlight and auxiliary features. Ninja Jump has OpenFeint integration and asks the player when they first launch the game or they want to post their peak to the online rankings, and to participate in other OpenFeint online features. External Links PocketGamer Tracked from Ninjump is a free simple endless-runner style game. Climb a tower by jumping between walls and collecting power ups along the way. Ninja styleWith more than 100 million downloads, Ninjump was one of the most popular apps released over the past few years. The game is simple and addictive, consisting of a single action. Jump between walls using a sword cut, cut enemies and collect items as you go. The game works on a high scoring base, mounting in trouble as the ninja climbs the tower. While limited in content, Ninjump is one of those 'one more three' games that can be great fun when competing against a friend or trying to beat a high score. The overall design is decent despite the one song playing on a loop that quickly becomes annoying. A newer version of the app comes with a fun rather intrusive level of ad, with one play per life (which can last seconds) and one that plays at the top of the screen. However, premium unlock can get rid of this. Another turnNinjump is a classic mobile game that has become to rely on in-game ads to an extreme degree. If it can be ignored then a fun little game can be found. Free downloadAddictive gameplayExtreme level of adsSingle recurring song How long will you last in this endless tapping game? Find out how great your tapping and reflex skills are on Ninja Jump! In this game, you have to keep tapping to prevent the ninja from falling or getting cut by the spiky arrows on the side! Collect coins, and unlock more modes in the game as you progress. Tap, jump, and bounce around the screen to survive longer in the game! Use your accumulated coins in the game special power-ups for sale, new characters, and features! You can choose different types of ninja characters, get special dual rate power-ups, and unlock new modes for the game by using your coins that are collected during the tier level as a reward after good scores! Ninja Jump Game Features on PC: Keep jumping and collecting as many coins as you can Ninja Jump is an endless tapping game, pretty much the same premise with that Flappy Bird! Just tap the screen to start the game. The ninja will swing in mid-air, but you have to keep tapping to make him bounce from one end to the other. If you stop tapping, the ninja will fall to the ground and you'll lose the game. However, the game is not so easy. Aside from keeping your ninja on mid-air, you should avoid spiky arrows on each side of the screen. Just bounce and avoid it for as long as you can! Earn more points if you manage to go further in the game. Also look out for extra coins! Your first coin will appear around when you collect around 7 to 8 points in the game. Unlock New Game ModesThe game starts with classic mode, but if you manage to collect more coins in the course of the game, you can unlock more modes and play them endlessly for free! Shuriken mode can be unlocked at just 40 coins, while the rest of the modes need 100 coins or more. Torment mode requires 600 coins to be unlocked. Unlock new characters and special features There are also special features that you can activate in the game with just 20 to 40 coins. This is the Double Shield Drop Rate and the Double Coins Drop Rate. These features will improve the gameplay and allow you to last longer and get more coins during the game. Don't worry, if you already have enough coins, the game will ask you if you want to use any of the features. Train your cube-shaped ninja character, up and away from the bottom of the game screen by clicking consistently on your mouse, but look out for pesky wall spikes that will end your progress. The higher up you jump, the more coins you'll earn, unlock extra levels, new ninjas and alternate game modes. It seems super simple at first, but as with all addictive games, you'll find yourself drawn in and determined to keep beating your previous scores, whatever it takes. Reminiscent of fun platform games, the graphics are cartoonish and engaging, without having any special downloads to work perfectly on any browser or device. Play Ninja Jump now on GamePix!
